Thoughts on my mind

Allow me to express a few thoughts on my mind, as I stay in my home I watch out of my blind.

I wonder if others are doing the same, this coronavirus is not just a game.

We have suffered the droughts, bushfires and floods, we have put out the fires and washed out the mud.

And now we're confronted with this virus to clear, so please distance yourselves and don't stand so near.

We wash our hands and scrub our nails and wear a mask if all else fails.

Where this begun is not now our worry, it's finding that cure we need in a hurry!

An Australian human trial of a vaccination, has commenced with earnest to protect every Nation.

I salute our Governments, Federal and States, Emergency Services and the Doctors and Nurses for all being our Mates.

And when this is all over it won't be the same, it's the loss of our love ones, just too many to name!

Editor: Dennis Williams

Shoalhaven City Council is reminding residents of the importance of staying connected to our community during difficult times. The community connection card can be used to offer help to those who may need support in our community or to spread some neighbourly kindness.

The Community Connection Card will help you to connect with your neighbours, and to let them know how you may be able to assist them.

Whilst some COVID-19 restrictions are lifting across the state, it is important to remember the person you give your connection card to could be self-isolating or vulnerable. This means we must practice neighbourly kindness with precaution, ultimately to stay safe and connected. Wash your hands before delivering your cards or any items of assistance and if possible, wear gloves.

It is important that we look after each other during this difficult time. Reach out to your neighbours if you need support or can offer help. These cards can be used at any time so once the restrictions are lifted, we would encourage people to keep using them.

The support you may need or can offer may include picking groceries or goods for a neighbour who is self-isolating or vulnerable. It may be as simple as offering a smile, making a phone or video call to neighbours, friends and loved ones, organising a virtual morning tea, giving a wave or by checking in with, "Hello, are you okay today?" while maintaining social distancing. It's well known that social connection makes us feel better as it helps prevent loneliness, isolation and depression and who knows, it might just make their day.

If you need mental health support the Mental Health Access Line on 1800 011 511. All residents are urged to reach out to the vulnerable and lonely members of their community to create a connection – whether it's a few friendly words across the back fence or inviting your elderly neighbour for a virtual cuppa.

The cards can be downloaded here.

If you can offer help or just want to say hi, please fill in this Connection Card and drop it into your neighbours mailbox. COVID-19 is contagious - please ensure you wash your hands before delivering your connection card and dropping off items.

Household Waste Disposal Voucher Extension

Shoalhaven City Council is pleased to announce the extension of 2019-2020 household waste disposal vouchers, which will now expire on 30 September 2020.

The extension follows the disruptions resulting from Covid-19 restrictions preventing some residents accessing Council's Waste Services depots. The move aims to allow an extended period for Shoalhaven ratepayers to arrange their waste disposal.

Council understands community concerns regarding the reduced opportunity for waste disposal in recent weeks and the voucher extension will help alleviate any unnecessary surge of customers at Council's waste depots attempting to use waste disposal vouchers before the original July deadline.

Vouchers can be redeemed at any of Council's Recycling and Waste Depots. Social distancing measures continue to apply, and staff appreciate customer patience as the distancing measures may result in delays onsite.

Waste disposal vouchers can also be used for booking Council's convenient on-call Green & Bulky collection service.

LOCAL SHOWGROUNDS GET STIMULUS UPGRADES

Member for the South Coast Shelley Hancock today announced two local showgrounds will benefit from $251,744 in funding as part of the NSW Government COVID-19 stimulus package.

Mrs Hancock said "Milton and Nowra showgrounds will receive funding to upgrade and improve the safety, use and condition of their infrastructure and support jobs in the local economy. When COVID-19 hit it forced the postponement or cancellation of agricultural shows and many activities that showgrounds rely on for their income,"

Mrs Hancock said "This investment by the NSW Government will provide a boost for our local showgrounds and the communities they serve by supporting tradies and suppliers with work and strengthening showground infrastructure for the future."

Upgrades in the local area will include:

- $150,078 to Nowra Showground for floodlighting for wood chop arena, air conditioning and carpeting for the pavilion and to replace the fencing in the main arena.
- $101,666 to Milton Showground for the construction of an accessible pathway.

Minister for Water, Property and Housing Melinda Pavey said this funding is part of $25 million that will be spent over two years to improve showgrounds across the State. "$12.5 million is being allocated immediately to get projects underway this financial year under the NSW Government's COVID-19 Stimulus Package," Mrs Pavey said. "We will then follow through by allocating another $12.5 million for more work across showgrounds to be announced next financial year."

The two local showgrounds would be among 137 across the State that will benefit from the first tranche of funding. "Showgrounds today are multi-use facilities for a range of activities from agricultural shows, rodeos and horse clubs to farmers markets, festivals, camping, men's sheds, and sport and cultural events,"

Mrs Pavey said. "Our showgrounds are at the heart of communities including serving as evacuation centres during bushfire and flood so we want to keep them in good shape."

Why is it that, such an iconic tourist attraction, has to be compromised along Palm Beach, Sanctuary Point with the massive build up of dead seaweed and what ever lurks beneath it and even though it is now the start of our winter season, Tourists still want to explore the iconic locations and take safe steps along an iconic foreshore while taking photos to share with other relatives and friends when they return to their homes. I know we do when touring around!

Dead and dying forest trees and fallen branches throughout Ray Brooks Reserve and the Basin Walking Track, through Sanctuary Point needs a great deal of attention, only if someone can open up their eyes and be honest and accept a much safer and enjoyable environment can be made for the tourists we are asking to return to our iconic waters and safe reserves for their next holiday location.

Even the NSW Government has provided funding to Shoalhaven Council, for the changes under Projects - Regional Growth Environment and Tourism Fund for Sanctuary Point / Palm Beach, St Georges Basin Walking Track and Bherwerre Wetland, as can be seen from the following extract from a media release on the 22nd October 2019... The NSW Government is trying to help, why the hold up!

$5.3 MILLION TOURISM BOOST

A new Shoalhaven project to promote nature-based, cultural and accessible tourism through upgrades to infrastructure will allow more people to enjoy the natural beauty of the region thanks to a $5 million grant awarded to Shoalhaven City Council by the NSW Government. Member for South Coast Shelley Hancock said a grant from the Regional Growth - Environment and Tourism Fund will enable foreshore walk upgrades, beach and walking track access, park and beach amenities, playground upgrades, car park upgrades and interpretative Signage. Mrs Hancock said the funding will create a signature tourism attractions for the community, helping to boost the Shoalhaven status among holidaymakers and putting our region front of mind for tourists when planning their next trip “Promoting nature-based, cultural and accessible tourism, these funds will see infrastructure at Vincentia, Sanctuary Point, Jervis Bay, Ulladulla and Kioloa to Narrawallee.

“ We know there is already so much to see and do here in the Shoalhaven and this project will provide an impressive new attraction to entice first-time and return visitors.“More than 67 million people visited regional NSW in the 12 months to March this year and there is clearly high demand from tourists who want to see regional NSW’s incredible landscapes and learn about our vibrant heritage and culture.”

Deputy Premier and Minister for Regional NSW John Barilaro said the project is one of 10 iconic regional tourism projects that will receive a share of $62 million in funding. “These new infrastructure projects will establish exciting, iconic tourism attractions for communities across regional NSW and create work in the longer term for chefs, tour guides, baristas, taxi drivers and pub and hotel staff servicing tourists who visit these attractions,”

Mr Barilaro said. “NSW is struggling through one of the worst droughts on record and through programs such as the Regional Growth – Environment and Tourism Fund, the NSW Government is helping towns attract tourists and keep money flowing through the local economy.“Regional NSW is still open for business and our restaurants and cafes continue to delight diners; tourist attractions are welcoming record numbers of visitors and I’m encouraging everyone to consider a trip to the bush instead of Bali this Christmas.”

The $300 million Regional Growth - Environment and Tourism Fund is part of the $1.7 billion Regional Growth Fund which, together with the $4.2 billion Snowy Hydro Legacy Fund, is delivering once-in-a-generation infrastructure that generates opportunities, investments and jobs. The NSW Government’s $1.8 billion Emergency Drought Relief Package is backing farmers, towns, families and businesses by providing up to $800 million in practical support measures, rebates, subsidies and waiving Government charges for farmers and related industries. The package is also making available $1 billion in interest-free or low interest loans to farmers and eligible businesses.

Has domestic violence increased in the wake of COVID-19 social distancing measures?

Full report: <https://www.bocsar.nsw.gov.au/Publications/BB/2020-Report-Domestic-Violence-in-the>
(pdf 728Kb)

Release date: Embargo: 10:30am, Thursday 28 May 2020

Domestic violence reports did not increase in April 2020 compared with the same time last year. This is despite most of the community being in lockdown in their homes over that month.

Concerns have been raised that social isolation strategies implemented to address the COVID-19 pandemic may inadvertently increase the incidence of domestic violence. A new report by the Bureau of Crime Statistics and Research (BOCSAR) considers domestic violence data from various sources in order to monitor signs of an increase.

The data show:

- The number of domestic violence assaults recorded by NSW Police in April 2020 was slightly lower than in April 2019
- The number of urgent Police DV callouts in April 2020 was equivalent to the number in April 2019
- Calls to the NSW Domestic Violence Line increased in 2020, but the increase pre-dated social isolation measures.

It is possible that the figures above are affected by a fall in domestic violence reporting during social isolation. While murder and grievous bodily harm are infrequent, they are serious enough that we expect they will come to police attention regardless of victim willingness to report. Neither of these offences were higher in April 2020 compared with April 2019.

Commenting on the findings, Jackie Fitzgerald, Executive Director at the NSW Bureau of Crime Statistics and Research noted that while there is no evidence to suggest social isolation measures have increased domestic violence, we cannot rule out an increase in unreported domestic violence. "If there were an increase in unreported domestic violence that didn't result in serious physical injury, it would not be apparent in this study."

With Senior Constable Anthony Jory

A man or Woman's best friend is a dog. Or so they say. Most of us own a dog or have had a dog at some point in our lives. They can lower our blood pressure and give us years of pleasure. Some people treat them like their children.

However, If you own a dog, you have to be a responsible owner. You make sure to feed them, give them water and a nice cosy bed but the responsibility does not stop there. You have to have consideration for the other members of the community. A community that is made up of Men Woman and Children, the weak, sick and infirm. How many times have you been out on your daily stroll and spied a dog which causes you some concern due to its demeanour or size? If you are a healthy person and you fear what might happen, give a thought for the elderly or small kids, what must they be feeling.

What happens when your hairy child goes wild? Who is liable?

If your dog bites a person or it is not under effective control it used to be the owner that copped the fine or went to Court. However, from the first of October, 2001 the Companion Animals Act was amended. The Act was amended so that it provides that if the owner is not present at the time of the offence and another person who is at least 16 years old is in charge of the animal at that time, then that other person is guilty of the offence instead of the owner.

Some offences carry a $2200 fine and/or 2 years in prison, also a person who is convicted under section 16 of the Act is permanently disqualified from owning a dog. Section 16 relates to attacks by dangerous dogs in aggravated circumstances. How would you feel if your dog was responsible for seriously injuring a Child or even worse, killing someone? The message is clear. Love your dog, enjoy playing with it. Bask in the benefits of ownership, but just remember your life could be turned upside down in a nanno second if you become complacent.
