Our Wish List for 2016

- A decision is made where the Baird Government, promised new Police Station, is to be built in the Bay & Basin! And when it will commence?
- A decision is made where the Baird Government, promised Ambulance Station, is to be built in the Bay & Basin! And when it will commence?
- A decision is made on what actual improvements will be allocated to Palm Beach, Ray Brooks Reserve and the Basin Walk Track at Sanctuary Point! And when they will commence?
- A decision is made on what actual improvements will be allocated to the Roads in Sanctuary Point! And when will it commence?
- A decision is made on what actual improvements will be allocated to the Pathways in Sanctuary Point! And when will it commence?
- A decision is made on when the Roundabout at Clifton Street and Leumeah Street Sanctuary Point will be built!
- A decision is made on when the Roundabout at Kerry Street and Paradise Beach Road Sanctuary Point will be built!
- A decision is made when the proposed upgrade to the John Williams Boat Ramp in Sanctuary Point will commence!
- A decision to build a state of the art Marina at Huskisson, to give first class facilities to encourage the tourist and local boating community to the area!

"And that is just for starters!"

Second Wish this Time!

At 9.45 am. Friday 13th March 2015 The Hon Shelley Hancock MP, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Member for South Coast / Parliament NSW Introduced the NSW State Minister for Police and Emergency Services The Hon. Stuart Laurence AYRES, MP. To an audience in attendance, in front of the Bay & Basin Leisure Centre who announced...

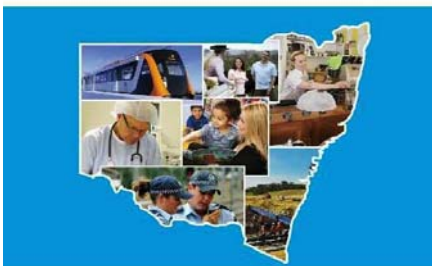

"A re-elected Baird Government would construct a new Ambulance Station in the Shoalhaven Bay & Basin."

Greenfields Beach rated among best in the world by The Guardian

Shoalhaven City Council Mayor, Joanna Gash has welcomed The Guardian UK's naming of Greenfields Beach in Jervis Bay National Park as one of the '12 best beaches in the world', taking a coveted place alongside the world famous Bora Bora in French Polynesia, Starfish Beach in Panama and Source d'Argent in the Seychelles.

The Guardian UK also named Greenfields Beach as one of its "50 best beaches in the world", as chosen by its readers, making it the only Australian Beach to make both lists.

Mayor Joanna Gash said she was proud to see the unique beauty of the Shoalhaven increasingly recognised as world class, this time by one of the world's leading international media organisations and its readers.

"Greenfields Beach, renowned for its calm waters, powdery white sand and incredible views of Jervis Bay and beyond is certainly worthy of being named one of the best beaches in the world."

"Not only is it naturally spectacular but it is the kind of beach that can be enjoyed by everyone."

"Greenfields is a family-friendly beach with a variety of public amenities, including toilets, outdoor showers, a picnic area and ample car parking."

"It also offers access points to the Scribbly Gum walk and White Sands track and importantly, is the most wheelchair accessible beach in Jervis Bay National Park."

"We are equally pleased that this listing fits with our strategy to encourage tourists to discover white sandy beaches other than Hyams Beach."

"Hyams Beach is often highlighted for its white sand and turquoise water and while our local community know we have a whole host of equally white sandy beaches throughout the area, many of our tourists do not."

"Tourists are encouraged to discover Greenfields Beach as well as the equally beautiful Callala Beach, Huskisson Beach, Blenheim Beach, Green Patch, and Murrays Beach in Jervis Bay National Park."

Mayor Gash said the listing demonstrates once again why the Shoalhaven remains the most visited Local Government Area in NSW outside of Metropolitan Sydney.

Congratulations are in order for Shoalhaven City Council and the introduction of the “Nowra Alive bringing Pride back into the Nowra CBD initiative!”

Already you can take a stroll through the gallery of artistic and historical displays in the CBD; all you need to do is visit the CBD and open your eyes and mind, to find and take in the smorgasbord on offer, for you to appreciate!

Here are a few of the spectacular works of; what I believe to be, worthy of any fine art Gallery in the World! And to think these are painted on bricks... “ON BRICKS.”

NOWRA ALIVE (The following comments can be viewed on <http://www.nowraalive.com.au>)

Nowra Alive is an overarching vision for the Nowra CBD. It's about encouraging events, activities and infrastructure that will add vitality to the CBD.

Nowra Alive is about YOU!

What change do you want to see in the CBD? What can you offer to create change?

Nowra Alive is about creating a cultural identity and location we can all be proud of and bringing pride back to the CBD. We want to embrace and build on all of the positive attributes that make Nowra such a special place already and work to create a better future for our town centre.

Nowra Alive is about the community and businesses connecting and collaborating to activate and add vitality to the CBD. It's about working together to see improvement, opportunity, to think outside the square and to connect with each other.

Nowra Alive incorporates a number of elements, projects and initiatives which are intertwined. Projects and initiatives will develop, increase and change over time. Some projects will be community driven, others led by Council or Business.

Let's provide our residents and visitors with a unique experience. Let's make them look at things differently. Let's embrace the quirky, the colourful and the edible!

We are committed to creating change and bringing the CBD to life. Are you?

LOCAL LEGEND: Arthur Boyd is the latest 'face' of Nowra. He and wife Yvonne gifted Bundanon to the Australian people in 1993.

Easier Account Payment

For customers who would prefer to spread their water account payment we have a couple of options which might help.

Customers who receive a Centrelink payment, can take advantage of their free Centrelink direct bill paying service which allows regular small payments to be made.

Direct Debit by instalment and the Shoalhaven Water Smartcard are other popular choices for customers to make regular small payments, all of which can help reduce the impact of receiving an unexpectedly high bill or one received at an inconvenient time.

Shoalhaven Water also has a Payment Assistance Scheme and other measures to help customers who might be under financial stress.

To find out about more information visit shoalwater.nsw.gov.au or call us direct on 4429 3214.

New Billing System

We are in the planning stages to our billing system and this will allow us to provide more information about your quarterly water account.

Changes are planned for July 2016 but, before this we'd like to ask you what information you'd like to see on this new water account.

If you'd like to see information that's not currently there, or would like to see the existing information presented differently, let us know.

Water UPDATE

Latest news and services from Shoalhaven Water

In the early part of 2016 we'll be launching a brand new, expanded website.

You'll be able to easily find information and resources on everything to do with your water and sewerage services.

From information on blocked drains to building an extension, we've got it covered.

The new website will also be easy to access on the go, with a tablet and smart phone version available.

New Website

Around the Shoalhaven

We've been busy installing more Water Filling Stations to make it easy for everyone to re-fill on the go.

You'll find new ones outside the Nowra Aquatic Centre, at the Shoalhaven Heads river precinct, Cudburna BVMX Track and one is planned for installation at the Currumbong Reserve in early 2016.

We undertake regular test samples across the water supply network to ensure the quality of water meets the Australian Drinking Water Guideline requirements. It's also good to know that our drinking water continues to rank among the best in NSW for quality. We'll drink to that!

And, we've just awarded a contract to begin works to restore and upgrade the Porters Creek Dam commencing in 2016.

I was down at the sea side and took notice of Shoalhaven Council Guide to Resuscitation.

I congratulate Shoalhaven Council for erecting these signs at the aquatic areas of our recreation and as this guide is part of the First Aid Training Courses I undertake, it is also applicable to any instances where First Aid is required.

I have include this in my newsletter and perhaps it might one day save a life, or inspire other concerned citizens to undertake a first aid course!

“I am proud to announce Sarah Ewers, a Year 8 student from Vincentia High School was presented the 2016 NSW Youth Frontier Environment and Conservation Award at a ceremony in Parliament House today,” said Shelley Hancock MP, Member for South coast.

Highlighting the plight of threatened species in Vincentia, Sarah chose to research and raise awareness about the Eastern Pygmy Possum, a local species threatened by nearby development.

She created and displayed a video about the species using footage collected from infra-red cameras positioned at the school for 8 weeks.

Sarah also developed a quiz to test awareness and encouraged her school to become an ambassador for the species. She also presented her project to family and friends, a local wildlife carer and local Council representatives.

“Congratulations to Sarah and I am sure she will thoroughly enjoy her prize, being a ‘Keeper for a Day’ cadet at Taronga Zoo’.

Youth Frontiers is an initiative of the NSW Government that targets students in years 8 and 9, with the capacity to benefit from youth mentoring that focuses on leadership and civic engagement.

Every year, more than 1,200 young people have the opportunity to participate in the program. Young people participating in Youth Frontiers will receive a minimum of 30 hours mentoring, including at least 10 hours of one-on-one mentoring. The program gives mentees an opportunity to build life skills and self-confidence by working collaboratively with their mentors to undertake a community project that makes a positive difference in their local community.

Thank you Ann Sudmalis MP for the following Media Release and thank you CSIRO for putting together the report called “Tomorrow’s Digitally Enabled Workforce” and what has been called by Ann Sudmalis, as “Megatrends and Scenarios for jobs in Australia over the next 20 years.”

I believed, that in the industries where I worked, the greatest assets were the workers; I believe this report is testimony, that others are beginning to agree with my view... If we wait any longer to create more jobs... We may be left behind!

MEDIA RELEASE

Jobs for Tomorrow

Federal Member for Gilmore, Ann Sudmalis MP, says a ground breaking new report released by the Federal Government paints a future where Australians will work side by side with machines.

The CSIRO has put the report together and called it: Tomorrow’s Digitally Enabled Workforce- Megatrends and Scenarios for jobs in Australia over the next 20 years.

“The report maps out changes ahead for business, government and the community with technological advances,” said Mrs Sudmalis.

“It says the jobs of the future are likely to be more flexible and connected.”

“Some jobs will become automated over time but technological change will improve and create new jobs and opportunities.”

The report acknowledges the changing nature of work and the need to be flexible, while highlighting the need to invest in training and education to help people succeed in the changing job market.

Future jobs explored in the report include:

- specialised big data analysts
- remote controlled vehicle operators
- personalised preventative health helpers
- complex decision support analysts
- customer experience experts
- online security chaperones

Six megatrends identified for Australia’s workforce over the coming 20 years include;

- Rapid advances in automated systems and artificial intelligence means that robotic devices can perform many tasks more quickly, safely and efficiently than humans.
- Digital technology and the new world of ‘platform economics’ is changing employment markets and organisational structures.
- People will become more entrepreneurial and create their own jobs.
- Australia’s population is ageing with growing life expectancies.
- Increased use of automated systems is raising the complexity of tasks and requiring higher skill levels for entry-level positions.
- Employment growth in the service industries, in particular education and healthcare, has driven jobs creation in recent times.

WARNING

FESTIVE SEASON HOLIDAY ALERT

Crime Stoppers is issuing a warning and reminder.

If you were planning to head out of town for the holiday season then you should review how well your home and contents are protected from would-be burglars.

December 7, 2015: A Hunters Hill (NSW) resident's CCTV security footage was sent, via the Cammy web app, to their smart phone of an "intruder alert", they immediately called the Police and also emailed the visual verification to Police, who dispatched 4 vehicles and within an hour the perpetrator was arrested.

The mother of five, who prefers to remain anonymous said: "it was gut wrenching to see a strange man standing in our yard and then in our living room. He also went into the kids' bedrooms. I called the Police (triple 000) immediately, they were extremely attentive and once I confirmed I was actually watching the whole thing unfold on my phone, they responded with haste."

The family had all their stolen items recovered and Police also found items belonging to other local residents in his possession.

Crime Stoppers has been a long time supporter of "Cammy" which offer an app to capture motion detected movement footage via photo stream (as distinct from live footage) in the Cloud. As only movement is tracked and when it is set off their no NOISE alarm, only the customer knows that the alarm has been triggered so they can alert Police.

Mr. Peter Price OAM, CEO of Crime Stoppers (NSW) said "Crime Stoppers was proud of its record in partnering with the community to receive anonymous information on crimes which helps save precious Police time, and working with Cammy.com was another significant contribution to assist law enforcement efforts and improve community safety.

"CCTV has long been a weapon against crime, but until now it has been cost-prohibitive for the average Australian. With the Cammy App, the comfort of CCTV is now available to every household and business at minimal cost or even no cost if you use existing cameras," said Mr. Price.

"It will make the offenders of property crime think twice – if they are being monitored then they will be caught."

Cammy.com App which is free and accessible online 24x7 from iTunes and GooglePlay.

The Australian Institute of Criminology estimates there are around 350,000 domestic burglaries annually (2011), with the NRMA estimating the cost to NSW alone is around $37m each year (2009-2010). This does not include property damage to cars, graffiti on walls and fences, or the theft of warehouse-stored merchandise.
