REMEMBRANCE DAY

11th NOVEMBER 2022 at 11 am.
A date and time to stop and Remember.

THE GREAT WAR
1914-1918

At 11am on 11 November 1918 the guns of the Western Front fell silent after more than four years of war. In November the Germans called for an armistice (a ceasefire) and they accepted the allied terms of unconditional surrender.

In Flanders Fields

By Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae

*In Flanders fields the poppies blow,
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky,
The larks still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.*

*We are the dead: short days ago,
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved: and now we lie
In Flanders fields!*

*Take up our quarrel with the foe
To you, from failing hands, we throw
The torch: be yours to hold it high
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.*

The eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month became universally associated with the remembrance of those who died.

WE WILL REMEMBER

CONNECT FOR SUCCESS THIS SMALL BUSINESS MONTH

Small business owners and operators are invited to “Connect for Success” at hundreds of NSW Small Business Month events being held during November.

Member for South Coast, Shelley Hancock said there are hundreds of events being held across the State to help small businesses learn new skills and strategies for growing their business and connect with other small business owners.

“Small Business Month is about bringing together small businesses across the State to learn, to collaborate and to celebrate the experience and expertise of our 800,000 small businesses in NSW,” Mrs Hancock said.

“Small businesses are a vital contributor to our State, employing 1.8 million people and adding more than $400 billion into the economy every year.

“I encourage local small businesses or those interested in starting a business to get involved and attend one of the many events held this month.”

The theme for Small Business Month, “Connect for Success” points to the importance of business owners, experts and industry leaders coming together to share ideas and build networks after the challenges of the past two years.

Hundreds of organisations are hosting NSW Small Business Month events and activities in November.

So far, 136 not-for-profit organisations, including councils, chambers of commerce and industry associations, have received grants to host events free-of-charge.

Other businesses have signed on as official Collaboration Partners, including Microsoft, Amazon, Commonwealth Bank, NAB, Xero, University of Technology Sydney, NBN Co, Black Dog Institute, TAFE NSW, Business NSW, the ATO and indigenous business incubator, Supply Nation.

Small businesses have a variety of ways to participate in Small Business Month, including attending live online events and connecting in-person at events in their local area.

What's On

Update: Francis Ryan Reserve, Sanctuary Point

Unfortunately, the amenities block at Francis Ryan Reserve was the subject of vandalism and arson

This matter was attended to by both the Royal Fire Service and NSW Police. Due to the overall damage, the building was left in an unserviceable condition and was temporarily closed.

Following several minor repairs, Council re-opened the male and female toilets (only) during daylight hours from Monday, 8 August 2022.

The fire damage has resulted in a loss of power, toilet and irrigation systems and flood lighting. Additionally, the extent of damage to the roof of the accessible toilet makes it unsafe to open to the public due to risk of collapse.

While supervised access to the main building can currently be arranged for local clubs utilising the space for equipment storage, the accessible toilet and main building remain closed to the public due to significant internal damage.

Council is now eagerly awaiting quotes to move forward.

In the interim, signage has been placed on-site with a QR code to this webpage where all updates will be published for the public to view.

In addition, further signage will be placed on-site with location details of alternative accessible toilets at Clifton Park on Clifton Street, Sanctuary Point or Paradise Beach Reserve on Walmer Ave, Sanctuary Point.

Reserve Bank of Australia lifts cash rate by 25 points to 2.85%

By Sarah Basford Canales

Updated November 1 2022 - 7:13pm, first published 2:30pm

FacebookTwitterWhatsappEmail

The Reserve Bank has decided to lift the cash rate by 25 basis points as it nears its highest levels in nearly a decade.

The central bank announced the 0.25 percentage point lift on Tuesday afternoon. It is the seventh rate hike in a row, bringing the cash rate to 2.85 per cent.

The move comes as the federal government faces political pressure to ease the skyrocketing cost of living on Australian households with the opposition describing homeowners as the Melbourne Cup day's "biggest losers".

Reserve Bank of Australia governor Philip Lowe said inflation in Australia, like in much of the world, is "too high".

Inflation is now expected to peak at 8 per cent later this year - a 0.25 percentage point increase on earlier forecasts.

"Global factors explain much of this high inflation, but strong domestic demand relative to the ability of the economy to meet that demand is also playing a role," Dr Lowe said.

"Returning inflation to target requires a more sustainable balance between demand and supply."

Inflation rose to 7.3 per cent last week - the highest seen since 1990 - increasing 1.8 per cent during the September quarter.

Dr Lowe said inflation would likely decline next year to around 4.75 per cent with forecasts suggesting it will remain a little over 3 per cent in 2024.

Treasurer Jim Chalmers said on Tuesday

inflation is the federal government's number one focus.

"This is precisely why the budget was designed for dealing with these inflationary pressures, which will get a little bit worse before they get better, but they will get better in time," he said.

"That the pressure is coming on Australians from around the world but it's felt around the kitchen table."

But opposition treasury spokesman Angus Taylor said the federal budget offered no financial lifeline to households doing it tough in the meantime.

"Australians have been told their power bills are going up by more than 50 per cent, their mortgage payments will continue to rise, the cost of groceries will remain high, inflation will continue to surge and yet the government still has no plan to tackle this cost of living crisis," Mr Taylor said.

"Australians can't wait another seven months for Labor's second budget to come up with a plan to deal with cost-of-living pressures that have become very real and painful for so many."
